The locals also call this temple Po Nagar. There are several Wei E pagodas here. It is said that there were 8 pagodas here from the 7th to the 12th century, and now only 4 are left. The largest main pagoda is dedicated to the goddess Champa. The mother of the Cham Kingdom that ruled Nha Trang in ancient times, Hindus call the Cham goddess the incarnation of the Hindu god Siva, but Vietnamese Buddhists call her the goddess Tianyi.

DAY 3: CULTURE CITY TOUR (MEAL: BREAKFAST/LUNCH)

Hon Chong - Wuzhiyan

There is a beautiful legend about Wuzhiyan. The huge rock standing on the seaside has a clear five-finger handprint imprinted on it. According to legend, it was left by the infatuated waiting for the return of the lover. There are many huge granite promontories directly into the Southern Sea. It is one of the filming locations for the French movie "Lover". At the end of the movie, the hero and heroine stand by the rocks on the seaside and say their final goodbyes.

Annam Cultural Village

Enjoy an authentic Vietnamese three-treasure meal - rice noodles, spring rolls, drip coffee - in the elegant Vietnamese Cultural Village, while watching spectacular Vietnamese performances - Cham style dance, Vietnamese traditional musical instruments, Taiyuan style dance, etc. The performance and the rich Vietnamese style allow you to understand the cultural characteristics of Vietnam.

Mud bath hot spring

Nha Trang is famous for its mud baths. Visitors to Nha Trang would rather take a mud bath than eat seafood (please wear a swimsuit to enter the mud bath). The place is rich in mineral elements, which is particularly effective in cleaning the skin. effect. After going out to sea on the island, take a mud bath to whiten and moisturize your skin. There are also several hot spring swimming pools for tourists to use. They stay for about 2-3 hours. There is a SPA massage area in the area. Visitors can enjoy 60-90 minutes of Vietnamese massage at their own expense. The reference fee is about NTD500-700 per person.

Nha Trang Cathedral

Nha Trang Cathedral, full of French style, is a typical Gothic building built from 1928 to 1933. Because the terrain here is relatively high, you need to climb up the stairs to reach the cathedral. The platform around the building has a good view and overlooks the street view of Nha Trang. The majestic bell tower and the entire church are carved from stone, also known as the stone cathedral. It looks very retro and grand, and it also has a certain effect of repelling the summer heat.
